Tami Brunke rips out paneling from the basement walls.

Karen DiTola and Pat (homeowner) share a hug during a break.

Diane Burnell carries debris out of basement.

Brenda Kallemeyn works with Peter and Luke Kurowski to haul moldy furniture out of Pat's home in East Chicago.

Arlo Kallemeyn (right) and his wife, Brenda, heard a sermon at their church in Thornwood that described "faith is not faith until you put it into action." They left church, came home and searched the internet. That led them to a Faith Without Borders news article. Arlo called our FWB Coordinator and within hours was volunteering. We welcome our newest members of the FWB team!

United Way Volunteer Center anticipates the local flood relief work to take months.
